Knowledge

means a competitive advantage

When Vinati Organics contemplated the manufacture of IBB in the early Nineties, the general opinion was that the Company's optimism was misplaced.

The odds were considerable: IBB was manufactured predominantly in USA and China with a cost advantage that prevented intending manufacturers from entering the field.

Vinati overlooked conventional skepticism to commission its first batch of IBB capacity (1200 TPA) effective from 1992. The local availability of material served as a business advantage, making it possible for the Company to service customers with the right product quality delivered just when customers wanted it.

Over the years, deep insight made it possible for the Company to increase IBB capacity 14x to 14,000 TPA at only a 3x capex. The Company increased capacity from 5000 TPA to 10,000 TPA in 2004 and 10,000 TPA to 14,000 TPA in 2007 (subsequently de-bottlenecked to 16,000 TPA), emerging as the largest IBB manufacturer in the world with a 60 per cent share of the global market in 2012-13.

What started out as conservative import substitution has since emerged as a global market capture strategy. And to complete the irony, the Company exported more than 30 per cent of its IBB output to China in 2012-13.

Knowledge means attractive value-addition

At Vinati Organics, we are focused on the research-led conversion of generic raw materials into value-added niche speciality chemicals, helping transform what could be a temporary wage arbitrage opportunity into a sustainable competitive advantage.

This value-addition is not derived through the passing down of cost increases but through progressive investments in people (qualifications, experience and youth), equipment, supports and alliances.

These investments translated into a growing ability to widen the product portfolio around core chemistry competencies, synergic extensions, material substitution, technology extension, process simplification, improved productivity and cleaner chemistries.

Knowledge means caring for the environment

At Vinati Organics, we are dedicated towards the environment and the use of clean and green technologies.

We have invested considerable time and energy in ensuring that both our plants are zero-effluent in nature. This is in line with our conviction that only ecological consciousness can translate into truly sustainable growth.

Over the years, the conviction translated into commitment. The Company invested in cutting-edge equipment and infrastructure to treat waste on the one hand and enhance operating efficiency with the objective to minimise effluent generation at source.

The result is that Vinati's world-class plants have successfully passed statutory and customer audits, strengthening their confidence in the Company's ability to provide products in a clean and sustainable way.

The Company possesses

26000 TPA
of installed capacity for ATBS

Knowledge means expanding the market

At Vinati Organics, we have leveraged our knowledge to widen the market.

For instance, the company selected to commission capacities that were larger than the prevailing demand of the day in India and accounting for a large proportion of global consumption, based on the growth potential of the product.

* The Company commissioned 10,000 TPA of installed capacity for IBB when the country's consumption was not more than 5,000 TPA; over time, this front-running expansion made it possible for the Company to widen the market for IBB to 15,000 TPA and account for 60 per cent market share

* The Company commissioned its 12,000 TPA IB capacity in September 2010 and grew the market for this product within India from zero to 4000 TPA in 24 months, growing its share from scratch to 70 per cent by making the product available at the right quality, right price and right juncture.

* The Company increased its ATBS installed capacity from 12,000 TPA to 26,000 TPA, based on a calculated global demand estimation.

This front-running, commissioned at a lower capital cost per tonne than the prevailing global benchmark on account of the units being located within existing units, has made it possible for the Company to price products competitively, grow the respective markets faster than their retrospective averages and account for a significantly larger share of each product.

Knowledge means better products

At Vinati Organics, we leverage our knowledge to achieve a better product quality than what is available across the world.

Over the years, we have continuously invested in research to modify the use of catalysts, equipment, processes and operating parameters to achieve higher purity standards.

This competence has been reflected in the following products:

- The Company's ATBS product has successfully achieved a high purity standard with a purity tolerance of $\sim 0.5\%$ as against an accepted global tolerance level of $\sim 3\%$
- The Company's IBB product achieved a 99.7% purity

standard, which is among the highest in the world

- The Company's IB product achieved a 99.85% purity standard, which is among the highest in the world
- The Company's HP-MTBE product achieved a purity standard of 99.95%, generally accepted as one of the highest in the world

As a result, the Company has emerged as a global benchmark for the highest purity standards in the world.

Knowledge means extending technologies

At Vinati Organics, we extend our acquired technologies through the use of our longstanding proprietary competence.

For instance, the Company acquired technology from IFP (France) to manufacture IBB in 1992. Thereafter, the company increased production capacity from 1,200 TPA to 16,000 TPA at a cost per tonne that was considerably lower than the greenfield benchmark.

Similarly, the Company acquired technology from NCL (Pune) to manufacture ATBS in 2002. Thereafter, the Company increased production capacity from 1,000 TPA to 26,000 TPA at a competitive cost per tonne.

This ability to acquire, absorb and re-engineer technologies has made it possible for the Company to reinforce its competitive advantage at a relatively lower cost, protecting its viability across all product cycles.

Kn

means more products

At Vinati Organics, we leverage our organisational knowledge to identify new products for manufacture.

These products are usually synergic with existing products, processes or raw materials, making it possible for the Company to build on existing competencies on the one hand and reduce costs on the other.

The result is that the Company extended from the manufacture of two product till 2001 to the manufacture of five products by 2007 and the manufacture of 14 products in 2013. Concurrently, the Company has extended to the manufacture of a number of grades within products segments; what started out as the singular manufacture of ATBS a few years ago has extended to the manufacture multiple grades suiting various applications.

The Company has invested significantly in its IB capacity with the objective to consume a part of this capacity within to manufacture ATBS, market some quantity to customers and utilise the rest to use in the manufacture of diverse profitable downstream products with enduring potential.

This widening spread has helped the Company increase the quantum of sales: from Rs 30 cr in 2002-03 to Rs 146 cr in 2007-08 and Rs. 542 cr in 2012-13. The annual revenue increment of Rs 45 cr between 2007-08 and 2008-09 increased to Rs 100 cr between 2011-12 and 2012-13, vindicating the effectiveness of the Company's portfolio expansion.

More importantly, this widening spread has helped the Company position itself as a speciality super market in the global arena, serving as an advantage over companies with limited products and attracting customers seeking to buy more products from fewer suppliers.

“It took us 21 years to achieve Rs 500 cr in revenues. We are attractively placed to replicate this growth in just three years.”

Managing Director Mr. Vinod Saraf provides a perspective into the Company's competitive advantage and prospects

Dear shareholders,

At Vinati Organics, we consider 2012-13 as a watershed financial year in our existence where we not only reported superior numbers, but also strengthened our business through capacity expansion, wider product mix and environment compliances.

The result is that even as the Company took 21 years to achieve Rs 500 cr in revenues (as it did during 2012-13), it is attractively placed to replicate this growth in just the next three years and emerge as a Rs 1000 cr revenue organisation.

Review

Vinati Organics reported revenues that were 25 per cent higher than 2011-12. The Company reported a 30 per cent compounded growth in revenues across the five years leading to 2012-13.

The Company continued to strengthen its customer value proposition during the year under review. The Company continued to work with some of the largest and most select names in the global chemicals industry. The Company provided these customers with customised products on call, keeping their production lines running through timely supplies to their manufacturing facilities across the world. The Company reinforced customer confidence to trust the Company with larger volumes following proactive capacity expansion. Besides, the Company widened its product portfolio, servicing the diverse needs of its existing customers and accounting for a larger share of their wallet.

Initiatives

The Company strengthened its customer value proposition through a number of initiatives that were embarked upon during the year under review with commissioning during 2012-13 or the foreseeable future. These initiatives comprised the following:

- Process optimisation in the manufacture of ATBS at Lote; commissioning of the ATBS capacity expansion from 12,000 TPA to 26,000 TPA, the full impact of which will be felt in 2013-14
- Commissioning of the capacity to manufacture plasticisers, the full impact of which will be felt in 2013-14

- Commissioning of DAAM plant (1,000 TPA), the full impact of which will be felt in 2013-14

At Vinati, these initiatives are expected to increase production capacities of prominent products, strengthen overall integration and reinforce our back-end utilities translating into larger and profitable working over the foreseeable future.

Strategic direction

At Vinati, we expect to accelerate growth from this point onwards through a combination of various initiatives:

Environmental compliance: In the chemical industry, there is a growing emphasis on responsible manufacture. There is a growing priority to use the right raw materials, safe processes and relevant equipment with the objective to reuse and recycle. At Vinati, we recognise that large and respected customers will progressively engage with only those vendors whose operations are clean and green; besides, international lenders will progressively fund only those companies with a similar commitment. This means that responsible vendors can potentially grow faster than the sectoral average. As a future-committed organisation, Vinati invested in environment assets during the year under review, achieved a lower environment load, transformed process waste into commercial products and achieved lower operating expenditure. This investment has emphasised that green business is good business.

Integration: In the competitive business of chemicals manufacture, where it is no longer possible to pass cost increases on to customers, success must be achieved through the ability to seek savings from within. In view of this, the Company embarked on related product diversification with the objective to grow the product portfolio around related chemistries and competencies. For instance, the Company possesses deep Acrylonitrile management capabilities, which have been leveraged for the manufacture of diverse downstream products. This integrated approach has helped the Company create a wider product portfolio, which, in turn, provides the Company with effective material procurement economies on the one hand and a larger share of the customer wallet at the other.

Capacity expansion: In a mature chemical industry marked by a multitude of probable suppliers for products, customers are more likely to gravitate to suppliers that possess not just adequate capacity but the capacity to service the anytime-any volume requirements of their customers. At Vinati, we are not just increasing our production capacities in the simplistic sense; we are front-running the downstream capacity expansions of our customers, so that we have adequate material the moment their expansions go on stream. This is something that we have always done, translating into 80 per cent of our 2012-13 revenues derived from customers who have worked with the Company for five years or more. As a step in this direction, we embarked on an increase in our ATBS capacity from 12,000 TPA to 26,000 TPA effective from 2013 and a 29 per cent increase in our IBB capacity to 16,000 TPA effective from 2013.

Road ahead

Vinati Organics is optimistic of its prospects over the foreseeable future for some good reasons.

The Company's customers have reported an increasing appetite for the Company's products; the Company expects its customer agreements to extend to larger volumes.

The Company's capacity expansions are expected to translate into production from 2013-14 onwards; ATBS production is expected to rise as downstream demand coming out of nascent sectors (water treatment, oil recovery, shale gas exploration, acrylic paints emulsion among others) continues to drive the segment growth in excess of 20 per cent per annum.

The Company will continue to service the large IBB demand with the objective to carve out a large market share.

Value

What I want to convey to shareholders is that all the relevant capital expenditure to finance the next round of the Company's growth have already been completed. The Rs 140 cr invested in our business in the last two years (2012-13 included) have been completed without the Company's gearing extending beyond an aggregate 0.7 as on 31 March 2013.

At Vinati, we believe that this financial structure will make it possible for us to climb to the next orbit of our growth without compromising the integrity of our Balance Sheet and without compromising our ability to service the needs of our lenders and equity owners. We expect our investments to generate an incremental Rs 500 cr of revenues over the next three years, enhancing value for all those associated with our Company.

Mr. Vinod Saraf
Managing Director

Our business model

Vinati Organics went into business at a time when its business segment in India was largely unorganised. The Company was created with the vision to inspire stakeholder trust through credible action.

Geographic focus

Vinati is a global company originated in and operating out of India. The Company generates 65 per cent of its revenues from exports. The Company leverages its Indian location to leverage low operating costs and access to trained manpower.

Green business

Vinati is an environmentally responsible manufacturer focused on making proactive investments in equipment, people and processes with the objective to reduce effluents and emissions to well below statutory standards. The Company invested in effluent treatment and reverse osmosis plants to recycle water and waste residues into the process.

Product selection

Vinati selects to manufacture products around selected criteria – the intended product must have distinctive downstream lifestyle trends, and possess synergic chemistry characteristics that make it possible to achieve the highest quality standard at the lowest cost in the shortest time across the widest number of grades translating into the highest price-value proposition. Towards the close of 2012-13, 57 per cent of the company's product mix had been derived out of the same chemistry foundation.

Space selection

Vinati selects to manufacture products that address either large moderately-growing spaces or nascent fast-growing applications in large downstream spaces. The Company addresses these opportunities either through the most competitive price-value propositions or customised product manufacture that takes the business of its customers ahead.

Status and scale

Vinati selects to enter niche business spaces providing it with the scope and space to emerge among the largest manufacturers in the world. This scope is then corresponded by proactive investments in capacities, which provide downstream customers with the confidence that the Company would be able to provide adequate material to service their growing needs. In turn, this investment in capacity provides the Company with attractive economies of scale leading to competitive manufacture. For instance, the Company selected to grow its ATBS capacity from 12,000 TPA to 26,000 TPA which, going ahead, will enable increased supply to stoke incremental demand on the one hand and facilitate lower costs and enhanced competitiveness.

Integration

Vinati's business model is pegged around aggressive integration where one product serves as the raw material for another product. This makes the Company unique within its sectoral space in the world. The Company's entire basket has been prudently structured with an inbuilt inter-dependence. The result is that products are either consumed within to manufacture downstream products or marketed to customers. The captive manufacture makes it possible to provide customised products of the right quality at a cost considerably lower than what it would have cost the Company to procure without the need to inventorise. Besides, this makes it possible for the Company to deliver products to customers at competitive prices. During 2012-13, the Company served as a ready customer for more than 10 per cent of its raw material requirement. The Company selected to manufacture TBA – a monomer similar to ATBS and used in the growing segments of water treatment and personal care where the Company has already captured 50% global market share.

Synergic approach

Vinati was engaged in the manufacture of 14 products towards the close of 2012-13 compared with only two about a decade ago. Over the years, the Company selected to grow its portfolio in synergic products where its deep chemistry understanding of the product and process could be leveraged and where (in some instances) the Company could leverage existing relationships to acquire a larger share of the customer wallet. The result is that more than 15 per cent of the company's revenues in 2012-13 were derived from products that did not even exist in its portfolio more than five years ago.

Customer focus

Vinati has two growth options - add a significant number of customers to grow topline or focus on increasing sales to existing customers and accounting for a higher share of the customer wallet. The Company has selected to work with large credible customers enjoying a growing appetite of not just the Company's existing products but with the potential to buy a wider range of similar products. The result: reflected in the virtual absence of credit defaults and customer attrition.

Aggressive investments

At Vinati, we believe we will endure based on our strategic long-termism. The result is progressive investments in capacity, people and technologies even during weak economic cycles. For instance, the Company invested Rs 220 cr between 2008-09 and 2012-13, generally considered as the most challenging the world over in the last 80 years. This investment accounted for 64 per cent of the Company's gross block at the close of 2012-13, with the majority of the Company's revenues being derived from US and Europe, two of the most affected by the global economic slowdown. The Company commissioned the doubling of its ATBS capacity in 2009 (completed 2010) when few companies were engaged in capital expenditure; the Company integrated backwards into the manufacture of IB with a 12,000 TPA capacity in 2010; the Company de-bottlenecked its 10,000 TPA ATBS capacity to 12,000 TPA in 2010, embarked on an expansion to 18,000 TPA in 2010 and subsequently revised its expansion to 26,000 TPA (effective 2013-14 onwards).

Relationships

Vinati selects to manufacture products marked by demanding chemistry characteristics, which serve as a competitive barrier for intending entrants. The company's products address critical and precise applications, translating into customised manufacture, liberating it from commoditisation. The intensive nature of chemistries has reflected in a long vendor appraisal and engagement tenure; conversely, a high cost of switching has resulted in enduring customer relationships. In 2012-13, nearly 80 per cent of the company's revenues were derived from stable client relationships of five years or more.

Financial discipline

Vinati recognises that the most credible foundation is a robust Balance Sheet. The Company's gearing (ex-working capital) of 0.7 represents an adequate balance between the company's ability to drive growth on the one hand and provide attractive shareholder returns on the other. All project gearing was less than 1.0. The Company's interest cover of 16 was higher than the prevailing industry average with adequate fiscal comfort.

The tangible results of our business model

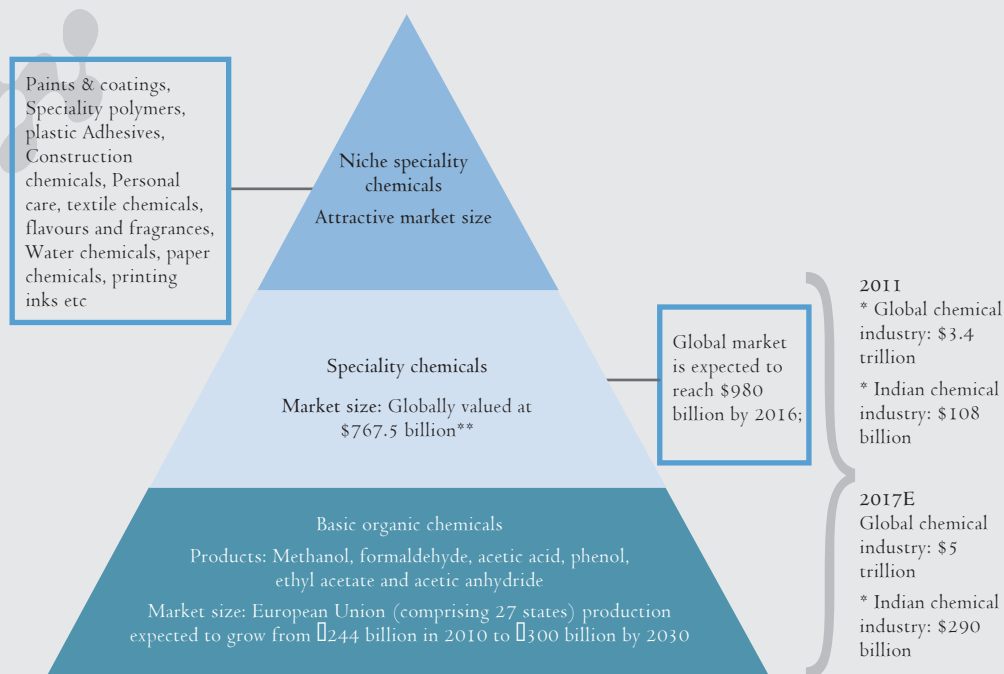

■ The company's focus on internal efficiencies and integration enabled it to generate a growing return on capital employed (average): from 11 per cent in 2006-07 to 27 per cent in 2012-13.

■ The Company is the largest producer in the world for the following products – ATBS and IBB. The Company enjoys a global market share of 60 per cent for IBB and more than 40 per cent for ATBS.

The Company is the largest manufacturer of Isobutylene in India.

■ As an extension of its long-term philosophy, the increments of the company's revenues and profits have been progressively growing: revenues from Rs 133 cr in FY06-FY09 to Rs 310 cr in FY10-FY13; Company's profit before tax from Rs 29 cr in FY06-FY09 to Rs 51 cr in FY10-FY13.

■ International revenues increased from Rs 16 cr in 2005-06 to Rs 145 cr in 2008-09 to Rs 360 cr in 2012-13. Global revenues as a proportion of revenues increased from 28 per cent to 69 per cent during the period.

These factors make Vinati Organics one of the most competitive manufacturers in the world

Competitiveness

Low cost: The Company's austere operating culture has translated into low overheads, which makes it possible to compete even during challenging industry downtrends. The result is that the Company is one of the most competitive manufacturers within its product spaces the world over and also one of the fastest growing.

Scale: The Company enjoys the advantage of scale; it is the largest manufacturer of ATBS in the world, its primary growth product (41 per cent of revenues, 2012-13). The Company is also the largest global manufacturer of IBB and the largest manufacturer of IB in India.

Integrated: The Company is one of handful manufacturers in the world in its spaces of presence and the only one to be extensively integrated. Besides, the Company's locations comprise a number of operating units manufacturing different products but supported by common utilities.

Portfolio: The Company is a one-stop shop for a number of product grades, making it a first point of call for existing and prospective customers.

Logistics: The Company's manufacturing locations enjoy proximity to the Mumbai and JNPT ports leading to modest cost of logistics.

Customers

Trusted: The Company's client profile comprises large MNCs like BASF, NALCO, Akzo Nobel, SNF, DOW Chemicals, Perrigo, Clariant, Chemtall and Shasun, among others. These relationships have typically been multi-year and multi-products in nature, providing revenue visibility.

People

Intellectual capital: The Company possesses more than two decades of rich chemistry and industry experience, reflecting in a culture of effective value-engineering and high operational efficiencies. The Company's strong 500-member team is marked by a declining average age, high retention of senior management (plant heads, marketing executives and finance professionals).

Alliances: The Company enjoys technical partnerships with renowned global and national players - Institut Francaisdu Petrole (France), Saipem (Italy) and National Chemical Laboratories (India).

Captive research: The Company possesses cutting-edge insight into complex chemistries, making it possible to grow from one product (2003) to four products (2013) through proprietary technology applications. Its expertise is reflected in the manufacture of TBA and new products in pipeline (TOA, plasticisers and DAAM)

Eco-friendly: The Company is a responsible manufacturer in a sector marked by the use of hazardous inputs, processes and discharges. Over the years, the Company invested in comprehensive environmental compliances, emerging among few companies in the space with zero waste discharge.

Financial

Hedge: The Company is naturally hedged against currency volatility as it procures raw material through imports and local purchases, where local purchases track the import parity price. To minimise currency risks, the Company has mobilised all its long-term loans in USD. Besides, the Company has arrangements with customers whereby raw material costs are passed on, making it possible for the Company to focus on scale and efficiency as profit drivers.

Liquidity: The Company's debtors' cycle (around 70 days of turnover equivalent) coupled with zero defaults has helped provide a predictable safety for receivables and an adequate pipeline for growing the Company. A cash and bank balance of Rs 34 cr as on 31 March 2013 provided adequate liquidity.

Management Discussion and Analysis

Economy overview

Global economic growth weakened to 3.2 per cent in 2012 from 3.9 per cent in 2011 but is expected to rebound to 3.5 per cent in 2013. If crisis risks do not materialise and financial conditions continue to improve, global growth could be stronger than projected even as downside risks remain significant, including renewed setbacks in the euro area and risks of excessive near-term fiscal consolidation in the United States.

The growth of the Indian economy hovered around 5 per cent in 2012-13, the lowest in a decade on account of a poor performance of the country's manufacturing, agriculture and service sectors. The Indian economy is likely to grow 6.5 per cent in 2013 and a projected 7.2 per cent in 2014. The national investment rate in India is around 33-34 per cent, and expected to increase to 36 per cent by the end of 12th Five Year Plan (2012-17).

Industry overview

There was a steep growth in the global chemical industry ($ 3 trillion) in the last five years. The global chemical industry historically concentrated in three regions (North America, Western Europe and Japan). However, of late, the dominance of these three regions has been increasingly challenged by changes in feedstock availability, price, labour cost, energy cost, differential economic growth rates and environmental pressure.

The global chemical industry is passing a change, with India, China, Brazil, Middle East and South East Asia increasing their influence marked by a shift in production from the traditional regions like Europe, the United States and Japan to the rest of the world (especially Asia). In 10 years, Europe's share of the global production of chemical products declined from 31% to around 27%, while Asia's rose from 13% to 23%.

Indian chemical industry

Over the last 15 years, the Indian chemical industry has graduated from manufacturing principle chemicals in a highly regulated market to being a mature industry in a liberalised economy. The chemical industry is among the fastest growing ones in India. The bulk of chemicals produced in India comprise either upstream products or intermediates, which go into a variety of manufacturing applications including fertilizers, pharmaceuticals, textiles and plastics, agrochemicals, paints and dyes. The Indian chemical industry, 12th largest in production, is growing at an average rate of 12.5%. (Source: www.booz.com).

With a current size of approximately $108 billion, the Indian chemical industry accounts for approximately 3 per cent of the global chemical industry. (Source: Indiamart news, January, 2013)

Corporate overview

Vinati Organics (incorporated 1989) manufactures specialty organic intermediaries and monomers. The Company is the world's largest manufacturer of Isobutylbenzene (IBB, market share 60% and 2-Acrylamido 2-methylpropanesulfonic Acid (ATBS, market share 40%)

Isobutyl Benzene: Isobutyl Benzene (IBB) is an organic, aromatic, neutral, colourless liquid with a specific gravity of around 0.852. It is also known as 2-methyl- 1 phenylpropene. IBB is manufactured out of toluene, propylene etc. This high-value specialty chemical is widely used as an intermediate in the preparation of Ibuprofen, an anti-inflammatory/anti-arthritic/analgesic medicine for pain management. Ibuprofen is primarily manufactured in India, China and the USA. IBB is also used in the perfumery industry and as a speciality solvent.

2-acrylamido-2-methylpropane sulfonic acid: The Company is a manufacturer of this product for since 11 years, which are speciality monomers widely used in oil-field recovery, water treatment, acrylic fibre, adhesives and personal care products. It is also used in mining, coatings and as dispersing and flocculating agents. Enhanced oil recovery is a growing application for this monomer, catalysed by growing exploration spends by major companies. It is used in a variety of applications and downstream customers are increasingly finding more of its use, where growth is stable. Further, there are newer markets emerging, which hold good prospects on account of reducing prices. The result is that the global ATBS demand is growing at 10% annually, while the Company accounts for more than 40% of the share. There are only four manufacturers of ATBS in the world including VOL. A major portion of the Company's production is exported to Europe, America and other Asian countries.

Isobutylene: Isobutylene (IB) is a hydrocarbon of significant industrial importance, used as an intermediate in the production of variety of products. The alkylation with butane produces isooctane, another fuel additive. Isobutylene is also used in the production of methacrolein. Polymerization of isobutylene produces butyl rubber (polyisobutylene). Antioxidants such as butylated hydroxytoluene (BHT) and butylated hydroxyanisole (BHA) are produced by Friedel-Crafts Alkylation of phenols using isobutylene. The output from the Company's IB plant is used for captive consumption as raw material for the manufacture of ATBS and also for merchant sales.

HP-MTBE: High purity Methyl

Tertiary Butyl Ether (HP-MTBE) is a clear colorless liquid with a 99.90% purity level. It has the competitive advantage of being a strong solvating power. Its high purity content contributes to product quality. HP-MTBE is a substitute for Diethyl Ether, Iso Propyl Ether, Tetrahydrofuran and other similar solvents. It is safe in storage and handling. It finds applications in the pharmaceutical industry and in organic metallic compounds.

TBA: N-Tertiary Butylacrylamide (TBA) is a white to slightly yellowish flake powder. It is monomer quite similar to ATBS. Its applications areas comprise of water treatment chemicals, personal care, metal working fluid and paper industry. It possesses the ability to withstand stressed conditions and ensure the protection of equipment.

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

a) Nature of Operations:

The Company was established in 1989 and is engaged in manufacturing of speciality organic intermediates and monomers, namely IBB (Isobutyl Benzene), ATBS(2 Acrylamido 2Methylpropane Sulphonic Acid), NaATBS(Sodium Salt of 2 Acrylamido 2Methylpropane Sulphonic Acid, Diacetone Acrylamide and Isobutylene. The manufacturing facilities are located at Mahad and Lote Parashuram, Maharashtra.

b) Basis of preparation

The financial statements of the company have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in India (Indian GAAP). The company has prepared these financial statements to comply in all material respects with the accounting standards notified under the Companies (Accounting Standards) Rule, 2006, (as amended) and the relevant provisions of the Companies Act, 1956. The financial statements have been prepared on an accrual basis and under the historical cost convention.

The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of financial statements are consistent with those of previous year.

c) Use of Estimates:

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Indian GAAP requires the management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenue, expenses, assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent liabilities, at the end of the reporting period. Although these estimates are based on the management's best knowledge of current events and actions, uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in the outcomes requiring a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets or liabilities in future periods.

d) Revenue Recognition

Revenue is recognized to the extent that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the company and the revenue can be reliably measured. The following specific recognition criteria are met before revenue is recognized:

(i) Sale of goods

Revenue from sale of goods is recognized when all the significant risks and rewards of ownership of the goods have been passed to the buyer, usually on delivery of the goods. The company collects central sales taxes and value added taxes (VAT) on behalf of the government and, therefore, these are not economic benefits flowing to the company. Hence, they are excluded from revenue. Excise duty deducted from revenue (gross) is the amount that is included in the revenue (gross) and not the entire amount of liability arising during the year.

(ii) Export entitlement by the way of Duty Draw back is recognised as income of the year on accrual basis. In case of utilisation for Import purpose the same is recognised as raw material cost in the year of import.

(iii) Cenvat/Value Added Tax/Service Tax:

Cenvat/Value Added Tax/Service Tax Benefit is accounted for by reducing the purchase cost of the materials/fixed assets and services wherever credit is eligible.

(iv) Interest

Interest income is recognized on a time proportion basis taking into account the amount outstanding and the applicable interest rate. Interest income is included under the head "other income" in the statement of profit and loss.

(v) Dividends

Dividend income is recognized when the company's right to receive dividend is established by the reporting date.

e) Inventories

Raw materials, components, stores and spares are valued at lower of cost and net realizable value. However materials and other items held for use in the production of inventories are not written down below cost if the finished products in which they will be incorporated are expected to be sold at or above cost. Cost of raw materials, components and stores and spares is determined on a first in first out(FIFO) method.

Work-in-progress and finished goods are valued at lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost includes direct materials and labour and a proportion of manufacturing overheads based on normal operating capacity.

Net realizable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less estimated costs of completion and estimated costs necessary to make the sale.

investments.

n) Retirement and other employee benefits

(i) Retirement Benefits:

Contributions to the Provident Fund are made at a pre-determined rate and charged to the statement of Profit and Loss.

Gratuity liability is defined benefit obligation and is provided for on the basis of an actuarial valuation on projected unit credit method made at the end of each financial year. The liability so provided is represented substantially by creation of separate fund and is considered sufficient to meet the liability as and when it accrues for payment in future.

(ii) Leave Encashment:

Provision for Leave encashment is made on estimates as at the year end and is charged to the statement of Profit and Loss.

o) Borrowing Costs

Borrowing cost includes interest, amortization of ancillary costs incurred in connection with the arrangement of borrowings and exchange differences arising from foreign currency borrowings to the extent they are regarded as an adjustment to the interest cost.

Borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of an qualifying asset that necessarily takes a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use or sale are capitalized as part of the cost of the respective asset. All other borrowing costs are expensed in the period they occur.

p) Leases

Leases, where the lessor effectively retains substantially all the risks and benefits of ownership of the leased item, are classified as operating leases. Operating lease payments are recognized as an expense in the statement of profit and loss on a straight line basis over the lease term.

q) Earnings Per Share

Basic earnings per share are calculated by dividing the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders (after deducting preference dividends and attributable taxes) by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period. Partly paid equity shares are treated as fraction of an equity share to the extent that they are entitled to participate in dividends relative to a fully paid equity share during the reporting period. The Weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period is adjusted for events such as bonus issue, bonus element in a rights issue, share split, and reverse share split (consolidation of shares) that have changed the number of equity shares outstanding, without a corresponding change in resources.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares.

r) Income Taxes

Provision for current tax is made after taking into consideration benefits admissible under the provisions of the Income-tax Act, 1961.

Deferred tax resulting from "timing difference" between book and taxable profit is accounted for using the tax rates and laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted as on the balance sheet date or as on date of approval of Statement of Accounts whichever is later. The deferred tax assets are recognised and carried forward only to the extent that there is a reasonable certainty that the assets will be realised in future.
